Ohio Valley Farmer's Market Finds a New Home

The taste and quality of farm-fresh products is back by popular demand...at an all new location. The Ohio Valley Mall in St. Clairsville, OH is proud to host the return of the Ohio Valley Farmer's Market. For the past few years, this popular weekly marketplace has set up shop in downtown St. Clairsville. The move to this new location offers more room for additional vendors and plenty of free parking. Farmers, bakers, and artisans will offer their wares at the Ohio Valley Farmer's Market every Tuesday beginning June 15, 2010 and running through October. The market will be located in the eastern parking area of the mall between Levin Furniture Outlet and David's Bridal. Ohio Valley Mall is pleased to offer this space rent-free to Farmer's Market organizers. The hours of operation will be 4-7PM during the summer months, and 4-6PM in the month of October.

Fans of the Ohio Valley Farmer's Market have come to appreciate a tempting array of picked-that-morning fruit and vegetables, fresh beef, poultry, pork, lamb and eggs, home-canned pickles, jams and jellies, delectable baked goods and hand-crafted gifts. The goal of the Ohio Valley Farmer's Market is to create a place for citizens of the Greater Ohio Valley to market products and to meet consumer needs. Susan West, a member of the Farm Market's Board of Directors, explained that it's important to encourage the development and use of farm and homemade products throughout the Greater Ohio Valley. "We want to help keep local dollars local.", she said. "Did you know every dollar you spend with a local farmer circulates in your community seven times?" At the same time the Farmer's Market provides services for members in the production or manufacture of products for retail consumption.
